NINJUTSU "Art of the Ninja"

Practiced worldwide by the IBDA Dojos of Shihan Richard Van Donk, a direct personal student of Soke Masaaki Hatsumi

We love Ninjutsu and all that it stands for. That is why we teach it as the foundation to ALL Bujinkan teachings. This includes teaching it as a foundation to the Budo Taijutsu that is now taught in the Japan hombu dojo. You will NOT learn Ninjutsu in the Hombu dojo. This art has not been taught in Japan for at least 15-20 years. But you can get it here from someone that personally learned from Soke Hatsumi, as a personal student.

Shihan Richard Van Donk first learned Ninjutsu / Ninpo Taijutsu earning his 9th dan in Ninpo Taijutsu (highest rank possible in that art) before Soke Hatsumi switched his teachings to Budo Taijutsu in the mid 1990's. Of course Shihan Richard Van Donk also studied the Bansenshukai, Ninpiken, Shoniki and every other teaching on the art of the Ninja that he could find. He traveled to Iga and Togakure mountain to do research on the arts. In the Shodan material you learn body conditioning, postures, meditation, stealth, gotonpo, training in nature, self defense, rolling, Ninpo, an overview of the 9 schools, striking skills, grappling, throws, standard and exotic weapons, metsubishi, Japanese terms, and much more.

Ninjutsu/Ninpo Taijutsu (and sword) is why he started training in the these arts with Soke Hatsumi in the early 1980's. So he teaches Ninjutsu / Ninpo Taijutsu first to all his students. He always will. Most students that join us really want Ninjutsu and not Budo Taijutsu anyway. So you earn your Shodan in Ninjutsu before starting your formal Budo Taijutsu with IBDA. These fundamentals are imperative in our opinion or your Budo Taijutsu will be very weak in a realistic combat situation. Foundations are everything from a marriage, to a checkbook to the house you are living in. Learn the foundation first. Learn the form first and then play with the shadows.

We invite you to explore the Bujinkan teachings offered by IBDA and to train with us either at an IBDA Bujinkan Dojo near you or hook up with a certified IBDA instructor for private lessons with Skype, or by studying with a buddy in our proven Home Study Courses, if there is no dojo near you. Budo Taijutsu training begins at Nidan (2nd degree) with IBDA (for more information go to www.BudoTaijutsu.com).
